It is with this objective in mind that the SLTPB approached SCE and expressed their interest to tap on Singapore's experience in transforming its tourism industry through technology.

Mr. P M Withana, Chairman of SLTPB, said: “We are delighted to partner with Temasek Foundation International and Singapore Cooperation Enterprise for the Tourism Development Programme. In this important first step, we hope to build essential skills and strengthen the capacities of Sri Lanka Tourism Promotion Bureau and other line agencies which we work closely with. Learning from the Singaporean tourism story is important for us, and we hope we can learn from their example, and take tourism in Sri Lanka to new heights.”

SCE, as the lead agency, will aggregate relevant Singapore expertise from the public agencies, institutions and private sector to deliver this capacity-building programme. A series of customised workshops will be conducted in both Sri Lanka and Singapore to build the capabilities of the Sri Lankan government officials in the areas of tourism development, digital and social media marketing, as well as tourism public relations and communications. It is envisaged that by the end of the programme, the officials will be able to apply the acquired knowledge to enhance the tourism development plan for Sri Lanka.

Mr. Kong Wy Mun, Chief Executive Officer of SCE, said: “Sri Lanka is a beautiful country abundant in wildlife and scenic nature landscapes, and is home to several UNESCO World Heritage sites. There is a great potential to boost its tourism industry and increase the tourist footfall for Sri Lanka by enhancing tourist experiences through technology and innovation. We hope that through this partnership, Singapore will be able to share our relevant experience in the areas of digital tourism destination marketing and promotion with SLTPB and its other associated agencies, and to better streamline tourism information and accessibility of tourist attraction sites.”

Mr. Benedict Cheong, Chief Executive of Temasek Foundation International said, “One of the key focus areas of the Foundation is supporting the exchange of ideas and knowledge in the area of urban management. Urban cities are centres of growth and a gateway to economic and social development. Tourism development plays a part in a country’s urban planning and contributes to this growth.
